

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 1:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

297,176

New Yorkers in Congressional District 1 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

8,517

New Yorkers in Congressional District 1 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,399

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 1 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

49%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

*Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 2:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

310,017

New Yorkers in Congressional District 2 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

8,614

New Yorkers in Congressional District 2 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,426

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 2 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

52%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 3:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

265,014

New Yorkers in Congressional District 3 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

10,628

New Yorkers in Congressional District 3 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,378

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 3 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

44%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

*Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 4:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

285,142

New Yorkers in Congressional District 4 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

7,175

New Yorkers in Congressional District 4 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,410

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 4 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

50%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 5:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

460,585

New Yorkers in Congressional District 5 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

5,242

New Yorkers in Congressional District 5 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,474

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 5 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

63%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 6:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

568,642

New Yorkers in Congressional District 6 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

7,935

New Yorkers in Congressional District 6 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,440

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 6 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

56%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 7:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

679,016

New Yorkers in Congressional District 7 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

11,414

New Yorkers in Congressional District 7 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,426

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 7 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

59%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 8:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

674,208

New Yorkers in Congressional District 8 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

10,591

New Yorkers in Congressional District 8 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,450

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 8 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

64%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 9:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

590,170

New Yorkers in Congressional District 9 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

10,318

New Yorkers in Congressional District 9 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,426

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 9 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

61%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 10:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

532,105

New Yorkers in Congressional District 10 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

10,454

New Yorkers in Congressional District 10 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,398

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 10 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

48%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 11:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

511,378

New Yorkers in Congressional District 11 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

7,134

New Yorkers in Congressional District 11 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,460

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 11 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

62%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 12:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

318,235

New Yorkers in Congressional District 12 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

8,946

New Yorkers in Congressional District 12 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,372

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 12 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

46%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 13:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

437,253

New Yorkers in Congressional District 13 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

4,456

New Yorkers in Congressional District 13 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,478

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 13 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

63%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 14:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

673,535

New Yorkers in Congressional District 14 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

6,536

New Yorkers in Congressional District 14 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,479

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 14 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

64%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 15:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

515,924

New Yorkers in Congressional District 15 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

2,407

New Yorkers in Congressional District 15 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,439

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 15 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

98%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 16:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

319,110

New Yorkers in Congressional District 16 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

4,824

New Yorkers in Congressional District 16 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,466

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 16 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

51%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

*Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 17:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

265,783

New Yorkers in Congressional District 17 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

6,554

New Yorkers in Congressional District 17 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,380

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 17 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

43%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

*Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 18:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

229,933

New Yorkers in Congressional District 18 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

7,267

New Yorkers in Congressional District 18 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,398

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 18 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

55%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 19:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

255,510

New Yorkers in Congressional District 19 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

9,789

New Yorkers in Congressional District 19 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,426

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 19 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

63%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 20:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

184,065

New Yorkers in Congressional District 20 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

5,408

New Yorkers in Congressional District 20 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,478

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 20 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

64%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 21:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

197,865

New Yorkers in Congressional District 21 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

6,307

New Yorkers in Congressional District 21 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,471

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 21 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

73%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 22:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

210,241

New Yorkers in Congressional District 22 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

5,880

New Yorkers in Congressional District 22 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,465

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 22 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

60%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 23:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

208,178

New Yorkers in Congressional District 23 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

6,743

New Yorkers in Congressional District 23 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,469

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 23 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

52%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 24:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

211,219

New Yorkers in Congressional District 24 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

6,681

New Yorkers in Congressional District 24 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,475

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 24 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

71%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 25:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

197,172

New Yorkers in Congressional District 25 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

6,382

New Yorkers in Congressional District 25 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,478

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 25 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

75%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 26:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

224,162

New Yorkers in Congressional District 26 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

4,754

New Yorkers in Congressional District 26 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,464

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 26 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

75%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

By the Numbers

HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UPDATE

March 2022

NY STATE OF HEALTH IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT 27:

Millions of New Yorkers have benefitted from access to affordable Marketplace health insurance coverage since March 2020 thanks to flexibilities permitted during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency (PHE) and enhanced tax credits available under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) that expire in 2022 if Congress doesn't take action.

These policies ensured that consumers had the security of affordable, comprehensive health coverage when consumers lost their jobs and/or income during the pandemic, assuring access to health care when they needed it the most.

A successful transition from the PHE and extension of the ARPA subsidies are essential to keeping New York's uninsured rates one of the lowest in the country. The coverage and cost implications for New Yorkers are significant:

203,701

New Yorkers in Congressional District 27 enrolled in free or low-cost NY State of Health coverage, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.*

8,157

New Yorkers in Congressional District 27 who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,470

Average annual amount residents in Congressional District 27 could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

66%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

Figure may include individuals who live in a ZIP Code that is in more than one Congressional District.*

Without the extension of ARPA Savings, coverage will be too expensive for enrollees moving from public programs to Qualified Health Plans (QHP) with subsidies, leading to significant increases in uninsured New Yorkers.

Statewide, here are the numbers:

6.4 million

New Yorkers enrolled in free or low-cost coverage through NY State of Health, who could become uninsured when the PHE winddown occurs.

138,008

New Yorkers who are benefitting from enhanced ARPA tax credits, whose premiums will go up if these savings are not extended.

$1,453

Average annual amount New Yorkers could lose when ARPA subsidies expire.

58%

The percentage by which premiums will increase for tax credit eligible consumers when they come back to enroll in Fall 2022, if ARPA savings expire.

