Issue

The issue presented for review by the Appeals Unit of NY State of Health is:

> Did NY State of Health (NYSOH) properly determine that your youngest child was eligible to enroll in Child Health Plus at full cost, effective March 1, 2017?

Procedural History

On January 25, 2017, NYSOH received your application for health insurance. In response to this application, NYSOH prepared a preliminary eligibility determination stating that your youngest child was eligible for Child Health Plus (CHP) at full cost, effective March 1, 2017.

Also on January 25, 2017, you spoke to NYSOH's Account Review Unit and appealed that preliminary eligibility determination insofar as your youngest child was found eligible for CHP at full cost, rather than at a further reduced rate.

On January 26, 2017, NYSOH issued an eligibility determination notice stating that your youngest child was eligible to enroll in CHP at full cost, effective March 1, 2017.

On April 19, 2017, you had a telephone hearing with a Hearing Officer from NYSOH's Appeals Unit. The record was developed during the hearing and closed at the end of the hearing.

Findings of Fact

A review of the record supports the following findings of fact:

1) You are divorced and live with your two children: [redacted]

2) You testified that you expect to file your 2017 tax return with a tax filing status of single. You will claim only your youngest child as a dependent on that tax return. Your ex-spouse will claim your older child as a dependent on his tax return. You testified that this dependent claiming arrangement has been in place since your separation agreement was executed.

3) The application that was submitted on January 25, 2017 listed annual household income of $72,800.00, consisting of $1,400 per week you earn from your employment with [redacted] You testified that this amount was correct.

4) At the time of your January 25, 2017 application, your youngest child was [redacted]

5) Your application states that you will not be taking any deductions on your 2017 tax return.

6) You live in [redacted] New York.

7) You testified that you were seeking for your youngest child's CHP premium to be reduced, at least in line with your oldest child's CHP premium rate, which is $60.00 per month.

Conflicting evidence, if any, was considered and found to be less credible than the evidence noted above.

Applicable Law and Regulations

Household Composition

Generally, a child who is claimed as a tax dependent by their custodial parent has the same household size as the parent that is claiming them (42 CFR § 435.603(f)(2).

In the case where a child is claimed by a non-custodial parent, the child's family includes the following persons, if living with the child: (1) the child's parents, (2) the child's spouse, (3) the child's children and siblings under the age of 19, or 21 if a full-time student (42 CFR § 435.603(f)(2)(iii)).

Child Health Plus

Child Health Plus (CHP) is a sliding-scale-premium program for children who are in a household that is over income for regular Medicaid (see New York Public Health Law (NY PHL) § 2510 et seq. and 42 USC § 1397aa). Eligibility rules are set out in NY PHL § 2511(2), as well as in the NYS Department of Health 2008-2012 Contract and Plan Manual.

A child who meets the eligibility requirements for CHP may be eligible to receive a subsidy payment if the child resides in a household with a household income at or below 400% of the federal poverty level (FPL) (NY PHL § 2511(2)(a)(iii)). To be eligible to enroll in CHP with subsidy payments, a child must not be "eligible for medical assistance"; that is, must not be eligible for Medicaid (NY PHL § 2511(2)(b)).

The amount of the premium payment, if any, that must be made on behalf of a child who enrolls in a CHP plan depends upon the child's family household income (NY PHL § 2510(9)(d)). No payments are required for eligible children whose family household income is less than 160% of the FPL (NY PHL § 2510(9)(d)(1)). If the family household income is 160% or higher, premiums range from $9.00 per month to $60.00 per month (NY PHL § 2510(9)(d)).

In an analysis of Child Health Plus eligibility, the determination is based on the FPL "for the applicable budget period used to determine an individual's eligibility" (42 CFR § 435.4). On the date of your application, that was the 2016 FPL, which was $16,020.00 for a two-person household (81 Federal Register 4036).

Legal Analysis

The first issue under review is whether NYSOH properly determined that your youngest child was eligible to enroll in CHP at full cost, effective March 1, 2017.

According to the record, you expect to file a federal income tax return for the 2017 tax year and claim your youngest child as your sole dependent. Therefore, your youngest child is in a two-person household.

In your January 25, 2017 application, you attested to an expected household income of $72,800.00. The application also stated that your youngest child is [redacted]. NYSOH relied upon this information in issuing its eligibility determination.

A child is eligible to enroll in CHP if they meet the non-financial requirements, are not eligible for Medicaid, and have a household income below 400% of the FPL. On the date of your application, the relevant FPL was $16,020.00 for a two-person household. Since $72,800.00 is 454.43% of the 2016 FPL, NYSOH properly found your youngest child to be eligible for CHP at full cost.

Since the January 26, 2017 eligibility determination properly stated that, based on the information you provided, your youngest child was eligible for CHP at full cost, effective March 1, 2017, it is correct and is AFFIRMED.

Decision

The January 26, 2017 eligibility determination notice is AFFIRMED.

Effective Date of this Decision: April 24, 2017

How this Decision Affects Your Eligibility

Your youngest child remains eligible for CHP at full cost.

If You Disagree with this Decision (Appeal Rights)

This Decision is final unless you submit an appeal request to the Federal Marketplace or bring a lawsuit under New York Civil Practice Law and Rules, Article 78.
