Issue

The issue presented for review by the Appeals Unit of NY State of Health is:

Did NY State of Health (NYSOH) properly determine that your spouse was not eligible for Medicaid as of February 1, 2017?

Procedural History

On January 9, 2017, you submitted an application for financial assistance to NYSOH.

On January 10, 2017, NYSOH issued an eligibility determination notice based on the information contained in the January 9, 2017 application. The notice stated your spouse was not eligible for Medicaid, Child Health Plus, or to receive tax credits or cost-sharing reductions to help pay for the cost of insurance. It also stated that your spouse was not eligible to enroll in a qualified health plan at full cost through NYSOH. This was because, based on the information from federal and state data sources, that your spouse was already enrolled in and receiving Medicare. The notice stated that individuals who are enrolled in Medicare cannot receive health coverage through NYSOH. The eligibility was effective February 1, 2017.

On February 1, 2017, you contacted NYSOH's Account Review Unit and requested an appeal of the January 10, 2017 eligibility determination notice insofar as your spouse was not found eligible for Medicaid.

On April 19, 2017, you had a telephone hearing with a Hearing Officer from NYSOH's Appeals Unit. The record was developed during the hearing and left open for 15 days to allow you the opportunity to provide supporting documentation. On April 21, 2017, the Appeals Unit received by fax a copy of a benefit statement for your spouse from the Social Security Administration dated April 20, 2017, this document was marked as Appellant's Exhibit #1 and incorporated into the record. The record is now closed.

Findings of Fact

A review of the record supports the following findings of fact:

- 1) You testified that your spouse is certified disabled.
- 2) You testified that your spouse was [REDACTED] when you submitted the January 9, 2017 application.
- 3) Your NYSOH account reflects that your spouse receives $1,071.00 per month in SSA benefits.
- 4) On April 21, 2017, you faxed a Statement of Benefits to NYSOH Appeals Unit for your spouse from the Social Security Administration dated April 20, 2017 which stated that your spouse receives $1,070.90 per month in SSA benefits and that she has been entitled to receive insurance under Medicare Part A and Part B since October 2015.
- 5) You testified that your spouse is currently enrolled in Medicare Part B, but not Part A. NYSOH records reflect and you testified that your spouse has been enrolled in Medicare Part B since October 1, 2015.
- 6) You testified that you contacted NYSOH on the date you filed your application (January 9, 2017) and a representative advised you that NYSOH is unable to assist any individual with Medicaid if they receiving coverage under Medicare.
- 7) You testified that you were seeking supplemental health insurance under Medicaid so that your spouse could access mental health care coverage that is unavailable to you through Medicare.
- 8) You live in Schenectady County, New York.

Conflicting evidence, if any, was considered and found to be less credible than the evidence noted above.

Applicable Law and Regulations

Medicaid Eligibility

An individual is eligible for enrollment in Medicaid through NYSOH (called MAGI-based Medicaid) when he or she meets certain nonfinancial criteria and has a household income that is at or below the applicable Medicaid income standard (45 CFR § 155.305(c); NY Social Services Law § 366(1)(b)).

Medicaid can be provided through NYSOH to adults who meet the following non-financial criteria: (1) Are age 19 or older and under age 65; (2) Are not pregnant; (3) Are not entitled to or enrolled for Medicare benefits under part A or B of title XVIII of the Act; (4) Are not otherwise eligible for and enrolled for mandatory coverage under a State's Medicaid State plan in accordance with subpart B of this part; and (5) Have a household modified adjusted gross income that is at or below 138% of the federal poverty level (FPL) for the applicable family size (42 CFR § 435.119(b), 42 CFR § 435.911(b)(1), 42 CFR § 435.603(d)(4)), NY Social Services Law § 366(1)(b)).

If an individual does not fall into one of these categories, he or she may still be eligible for non-MAGI-based Medicaid coverage through their Local Department of Social Services or the New York City Human Resources Administration (see NY Social Services Law § 366(1)(c)).

Legal Analysis

The issue is whether NYSOH properly determined that your spouse was not eligible for Medicaid through NYSOH.

To be eligible for MAGI-based Medicaid through NYSOH, a person cannot be entitled to or enrolled in Medicare Part A or B. You testified, and the record reflects that your spouse has been enrolled in Medicare Part B since October 1, 2015. Therefore, your spouse is not eligible for Medicaid through NYSOH.

NYSOH does not have the authority to decide if your spouse qualifies for non-MAGI-based Medicaid. Since your spouse may be eligible for Medicaid on a non-MAGI basis, NYSOH will refer your case to the Schenectady County Department of Social Services to determine your spouse's eligibility for Medicaid or other Medicare programs.

For more information about non-MAGI eligibility requirements for Medicaid and/or other Medicare programs, you can contact your local department of social services office directly.
