Issue

The issue presented for review by the Appeals Unit of NY State of Health is:

Does the record support that you do not qualify to enroll in a qualified health plan with financial assistance outside of the open enrollment period for 2017?

Procedural History

On September 22, 2017, NY State of Health (NYSOH) received your three applications for health insurance. That day, a preliminary eligibility determination was prepared regarding the last application submitted, stating that you were eligible to enroll in a qualified health plan, but did not qualify for advanced premium tax credit (APTC) or cost-sharing reductions.

Also on September 22, 2017, you contacted NYSOH's Account Review Unit and requested an appeal of that preliminary eligibility determination as it related to your inability to enroll in a qualified health plan with financial assistance through NYSOH.

On October 2, 2017, NYSOH issued an eligibility determination notice based on the information contained in the September 22, 2017 application, stating you were eligible to purchase a qualified health plan at full cost beginning November 1, 2017. It stated that you did not qualify for APTC because you stated that either you were married but not filing taxes jointly, you were married and filing taxes separately from your spouse, or APTC payments were made to you in a previous year for which you did not file a tax return. The notice did not specify which of these three factors, or in fact any other factor, caused you to be ineligible for financial assistance. It also stated that you did not qualify for cost-sharing reductions because you are not eligible for APTC. This notice further stated that you may enroll in coverage for 2017 if you qualify for a special enrollment period.

On November 15, 2017, you had a telephone hearing with a Hearing Officer from NYSOH's Appeals Unit. The record was developed during the hearing and the hearing was held open until November 30, 2017, to allow you time to submit supporting documentation.

As of November 30, 2017, the Appeals Unit did not receive any documents from you and none were viewable in your NYSOH account. Therefore, the record was closed that same day and this decision is based on the record as developed at the time of the hearing.

Findings of Fact

A review of the record supports the following findings of fact:

- 1) You testified that you are only appealing your eligibility.
- 2) According to your NYSOH account, on September 22, 2017, you submitted three applications.
- 3) The first two applications that were submitted on September 22, 2017 indicated that you were married. The last application submitted that date indicated that you were separated.
- 4) You testified that, at the time of the hearing, you were divorced.
- 5) You were unable to testify as to what date your divorce was finalized.
- 6) The Hearing Officer left the record open until November 30, 2017 to allow you time to submit a divorce decree or other documentation indicating when you were divorced.
- 7) You testified that you would probably be unable to produce documentation of your divorce.
- 8) As of November 30, 2017, there was no divorce decree or any other supporting documentation submitted to NYSOH's Appeals Unit, nor was there any documentation viewable in your NYSOH account.
- 9) According to your NYSOH account, there have been no other major changes to your household since September 22, 2017.

If you need this information in a language other than English or you need assistance reading this notice, we can help you. Call 1-855-355-5777 (TTY - English: 1-800-662-1220) (TTY – Spanish: 1-877-662-4886).

10) You testified that you would like to be found eligible to enroll in health insurance coverage with financial assistance.

Conflicting evidence, if any, was considered and found to be less credible than the evidence noted above.

Applicable Law and Regulations

De Novo Review

NYSOH Appeals Unit must review each appeal de novo and “consider all relevant facts and evidence adduced during the appeals process” (45 CFR § 155.535(f)). “De novo review means a review of an appeal without deference to prior decisions in the case” (45 CFR § 155.500).

Enrollment in a Qualified Health Plan

NYSOH must provide annual open enrollment periods during which time qualified individuals may enroll in a qualified health plan and enrollees may change qualified health plans (45 CFR § 155.410(a)(1)).

For the benefit year beginning on January 1, 2017, the annual open enrollment period began on November 1, 2016, and extended through January 31, 2017 (45 CFR § 155.410(e)(2)).

Special Enrollment Periods

After each open enrollment period ends, NYSOH provides special enrollment periods to qualified individuals. During a special enrollment period, a qualified individual may enroll in a qualified health plan, and an enrollee may change their enrollment to another plan. This is generally permitted when one of the following triggering events occur:

- (1) The qualified individual or his or her dependent either:
 - (i) Loses minimum essential coverage.
 - (ii) Is enrolled in any non-calendar year group health plan or individual health insurance coverage, even if the qualified individual or his or her dependent has the option to renew such coverage.
 - (iii) Loses pregnancy-related coverage.

(iv) Loses medically needy coverage as described under section 1902(a)(10)(C) of the Social Security Act only once per calendar year.

(2)(i) The qualified individual gains a dependent or becomes a dependent through marriage, birth, adoption, placement for adoption, or placement in foster care, or through a child support order or other court order.

(ii) the enrollee loses a dependent or is no longer considered a dependent through divorce or legal separation as defined by State law in the State in which the divorce or legal separation occurs, or if the enrollee, or his or her dependent, dies.

(3) The qualified individual, or his or her dependent, becomes newly eligible for enrollment in a qualified health plan because he or she gains citizenship, status as a national, or lawful present or is no longer incarcerated.

(4) The qualified individual's or his or her dependent's, enrollment or non-enrollment in a qualified health plan is unintentional, inadvertent, or erroneous and is the result of the error, misrepresentation, misconduct, or inaction of an officer, employee, or agent of NYSOH, its instrumentalities, or a non-NYSOH entity providing enrollment assistance or conducting enrollment activities.

(5) The enrollee or, his or her dependent adequately demonstrates to NYSOH that the qualified health plan in which he or she is enrolled substantially violated a material provision of its contract in relation to the enrollee;

(6) The enrollee or enrollee's dependent is newly eligible or ineligible for advance payments of the premium tax credit, or change in eligibility for cost-sharing reductions.

(7) The qualified individual or enrollee, or his or her dependent, gains access to new qualified health plan as a result of a permanent move and either—

(i) Had minimum essential coverage for one or more days during the 60 days preceding the date of the permanent move, or

(ii) Was living outside of the United States or in a United States territory at the time of the permanent move;

(8) The qualified individual or dependent who gains or maintains status as an Indian may enroll in a qualified health plan or change from one plan to another, once per month.

(9) The qualified individual or enrollee, or his or her dependent, demonstrates to the Exchange, in accordance with guidelines issued by HHS, that the individual meets other exceptional circumstances as the Exchange may provide;

(10) A qualified individual or enrollee—

(i) Is a victim of domestic abuse or spousal abandonment, including a dependent or unmarried victim within a household, is enrolled in minimum essential coverage and seeks to enroll in coverage separate from the perpetrator of the abuse or abandonment; or

(ii) Is a dependent of a victim of domestic abuse or spousal abandonment, on the same application as the victim, may enroll in coverage at the same time as the victim;

(11) A qualified individual or dependent—

(i) Applies for coverage through NYSOH during the annual open enrollment period or due to a qualifying event, is assessed as potentially eligible for Medicaid or Child Health Plus and is determined ineligible for Medicaid or Child Health Plus either after open enrollment has ended or more than 60 days after the qualifying event; or

(ii) Applies for coverage at their Local Department of Social Services or Human Resources Administration during the annual open enrollment period, and is determined ineligible for Medicaid or Child Health Plus after open enrollment has ended;

(12) The qualified individual or enrollee, or his or her dependent, adequately demonstrates to NYSOH that a material error related to plan benefits, service area, or premium influenced the qualified individual's or enrollee's decision to purchase a qualified health plan; or

(13) At the option of NYSOH, the qualified individual provides satisfactory documentary evidence to verify his or her eligibility for an insurance affordability program or enrollment following termination of enrollment due to a failure to verify such status within 90 days. NYSOH has not elected to adopt this subsection at this time.

(45 CFR § 155.420(d)).

Generally, if a triggering life event occurs, the qualified individual or enrollee has 60 days from the date of a triggering event to select a qualified health plan (45 CFR § 155.420(c)(1)).

Legal Analysis

The issue under review is whether the record supports that you do not qualify to enroll in a qualified health plan with financial assistance outside of the open enrollment period.

You testified that you are appealing the inability to enroll into a qualified health plan with financial assistance through NYSOH. However, the record does not contain a notice of eligibility determination or redetermination on the issue of special enrollment period.

Here, the lack of a notice of eligibility determination on the issue of special enrollment periods does not prevent the Appeals Unit from reaching the merits of the case or constitute material error. Under 45 CFR § 155.505(b), you are as entitled to appeal NYSOH failure to timely issue a notice of eligibility determination as you are to appeal an adverse notice of eligibility determination. Since the Appeals Unit review of NYSOH determinations is performed on a de novo basis, no deference would have been granted to the eligibility determination notice had it been issued.

NYSOH provided an open enrollment period from November 1, 2016 until January 31, 2017. On September 22, 2017, you submitted multiple applications for financial assistance with health insurance. That day, a preliminary eligibility determination was prepared stating that you were eligible to purchase a full cost qualified health plan. On October 2, 2017, NYSOH issued an eligibility determination notice, based on the September 22, 2017 application, stating that you may be able to enroll in coverage if you qualify for a Special Enrollment period, and that if you qualify for a Special Enrollment period you are eligible to purchase a qualified health plan at full cost through NYSOH, effective November 1, 2017.

Once the annual open enrollment period ends, a health plan enrollee must qualify for a special enrollment period in order to enroll in, or change to another health plan offered in NYSOH. In order to qualify for a special enrollment period, a person must experience a triggering event.

During the hearing, you testified that you have recently finalized your divorce. However, the record indicates that you submitted three applications on September 22, 2017. The first two of these applications indicated that you were married, while the final application indicated that you were separated. Further, you were unable to testify during the hearing as to the date that your divorce was finalized. Since your testimony was contrary to the information that was available in the record, the Hearing Officer left the record open until November 30, 2017 to allow you time to submit a divorce decree or other documentation confirming the date of your divorce. At the hearing, you testified that you would most likely be unable to get this paperwork. As of the end of the business day on November 30, 2017, the Appeals Unit did not receive any documents from you and none were viewable in your NYSOH account. Therefore, there is no credible evidence in the record, to corroborate your testimony at the hearing.

If you need this information in a language other than English or you need assistance reading this notice, we can help you. Call 1-855-355-5777 (TTY - English: 1-800-662-1220) (TTY – Spanish: 1-877-662-4886).

While a divorce could be considered a triggering event which could qualify you for a special enrollment period, this event only pertains to enrollees. The record indicates that at the time of your application, you were not enrolled in a qualified health plan through NYSOH. Therefore, there is no credible evidence in the record to allow the NYSOH's Appeals Unit to determine that you experienced a triggering event that would find you eligible for a special enrollment period as of your September 22, 2017 application. Further, the credible evidence of record indicates that, since the open enrollment period closed on January 31, 2017, no other triggering events have occurred that would qualify you for a special enrollment period.

Therefore, NYSOH's denial of a special enrollment period to select a health plan outside of the open enrollment period for 2017 must be AFFIRMED.

Since you do not qualify for a special enrollment period for 2017, the NYSOH's Appeals Unit will not address the merits as to whether NYSOH properly determined that you were ineligible for financial assistance with health insurance.
