Issue

The issue presented for review by the Appeals Unit of NY State of Health is:

Did NY State of Health (NYSOH) properly determine that your spouse's enrollment in a Medicaid Managed Care (MMC) plan was effective February 1, 2018?

Procedural History

On December 16, 2017, you filed an application for financial assistance with health insurance on behalf of yourself, your spouse, and your child, and uploaded documentation to your NYSOH account.

On December 17, 2017, NYSOH issued a notice of eligibility determination stating that your spouse was conditionally eligible for Medicaid coverage for all outpatient prenatal Medicaid services, effective December 1, 2017. The notice also stated that you needed to provide additional information to confirm her eligibility, but did not state specifically what information was needed. Finally, the notice stated that your spouse was not allowed to enroll in an MMC plan, based on the type of Medicaid coverage for which she was eligible.

On December 19, 2017, NYSOH issued a notice stating that the income documentation you provided did not confirm the information in your application. The notice directed you to submit documentation of your household income by January 15, 2018.

If you need this information in a language other than English or you need assistance reading this notice, we can help you. Call 1-855-355-5777 (TTY - English: 1-800-662-1220) (TTY - Spanish: 1-877-662-4886).

Also on December 19, 2017, you uploaded more documentation to your NYSOH account.

On December 21, 2017, NYSOH issued a notice stating that the income documentation you provided did not confirm the information in your application. The notice directed you to submit documentation of your household income by January 4, 2018.

Also on December 21, 2017, NYSOH issued a notice stating that your spouse remained eligible for Medicaid, effective December 1, 2017. The notice also directed your spouse to select a health plan for enrollment.

On December 23, 2017, an MMC plan was selected for enrollment on behalf of your spouse.

Also on December 23, 2017, you spoke to NYSOH's Account Review Unit and appealed the start date of your spouse's enrollment in her MMC plan, insofar as it did not begin on January 1, 2018.

On December 24, 2017, NYSOH issued a notice of enrollment in the plan selected on behalf of your spouse on December 23, 2017, stating that your spouse's coverage under that plan would start on February 1, 2018.

On February 23, 2018, you had a telephone hearing with a Hearing Officer from NYSOH's Appeals Unit. The record was developed during the hearing and closed at the end of the hearing.

Findings of Fact

A review of the record support the following findings of fact:

- 1) You first applied to NYSOH for financial assistance with your household's health insurance on December 16, 2017.
- 2) You testified that your spouse previously had coverage outside of NYSOH through an employer, and that this coverage ended on December 31, 2017.
- 3) You testified that your spouse is pregnant, and that you filed this appeal because you were concerned about finding a doctor who would accept fee-for-service coverage.
- 4) You testified that, so far, it appears that your spouse's medical bills from January 2018 have been covered by her fee-for-service Medicaid, but that you are proceeding with this appeal in case there are any that were not covered.

If you need this information in a language other than English or you need assistance reading this notice, we can help you. Call 1-855-355-5777 (TTY - English: 1-800-662-1220) (TTY – Spanish: 1-877-662-4886).

- 5) The record reflects that an MMC plan was selected on behalf of your spouse on December 23, 2017, and that her enrollment was effective on February 1, 2018.

Conflicting evidence, if any, was considered and found to be less credible than the evidence noted above.

Applicable Law and Regulations

Medicaid

An individual is eligible for fee-for-service Medicaid effective on the first day of the month if an individual was eligible any time during that month (42 CFR § 435.915(b), Medicaid Eligibility Changes under the Affordable Care Act (ACA) of 2010,13ADM-03(III)(F)).

MMC plan enrollments received on or before the fifteenth day of the month are effective the first day of the following month. Enrollments received after the fifteenth day of the month are effective the first day of the second following month (Medicaid Managed Care Model Contract (Appendix H-6(b)(ii) & (iii), effective 3/1/2014 – 2/28/2019; see 42 USC § 1315; § 364-j(1)(c); 18 NYCRR § 360-10.3(h), Medicaid Eligibility Changes under the Affordable Care Act (ACA) of 2010,13ADM-03(III)(F)).

Legal Analysis

The issue under review is whether NYSOH properly determined that your spouse's enrollment in her MMC plan was effective February 1, 2018.

Your NYSOH account reflects that you filed your initial application for coverage through NYSOH on behalf of yourself, your spouse, and your child on December 16, 2017. The record further reflects that, initially, NYSOH issued a notice of eligibility determination stating that your spouse was not eligible to enroll in an MMC plan. However, on December 21, 2017, NYSOH issued an eligibility determination stating that your spouse was eligible for Medicaid and that she should enroll in an MMC plan. On December 23, 2017, you contacted NYSOH and enrolled your spouse into an MMC plan.

The date on which an MMC plan can take effect depends on the day a person selects the plan for enrollment.

A plan that is selected from the first day to, and including, the fifteenth day of a month will go into effect on the first day of the following month. A plan that is selected on or after the sixteenth day of the month will go into effect on the first day of the second following month.

On December 23, 2017, you selected an MMC plan for your spouse, so it properly took effect on the first day of the second month following December: that is, on February 1, 2018.

It is noted that, even if you had been able to select an MMC plan for your spouse on the day of your initial application for coverage through NYSOH (December 16, 2017), your spouse's MMC plan enrollment would still have started on February 1, 2018.

Therefore, the December 24, 2017 notice, stating that your spouse's enrollment in her MMC plan would be effective February 1, 2018, was correct and must be AFFIRMED.
