Issues

The issues presented for review by the Appeals Unit of NY State of Health are:

Did NY State of Health (NYSOH) properly determine that your spouse was eligible for the Essential Plan 1?

Procedural History

On February 22, 2018, NYSOH issued an eligibility determination notice stating that your spouse was eligible for the Essential Plan 1 with a $20.00 monthly premium, effective April 1, 2018. The notice also stated that your spouse will have a co-pay for certain health services because the household income listed in your application is between $22,412.00 and $32,480.00.

On March 5, 2018, you spoke to NYSOH's Account Review Unit and appealed that eligibility determination notice insofar as your spouse was no longer eligible for the Essential Plan 2 with no monthly premium.

On May 15, 2018, you had a telephone hearing with a Hearing Officer from NYSOH's Appeals Unit. The record was developed during the hearing and closed at the end of the hearing.

Findings of Fact

A review of the record supports the following findings of fact:

- 1) According to your NYSOH account and testimony, you and your spouse expect to file your tax return for 2018 with a tax filing status of married filing jointly. You and your spouse will claim no dependents on that tax return.
- 2) You are seeking health insurance for your spouse.
- 3) The application that was submitted on February 21, 2018, listed annual household income of $28,502.00, consisting of $14,916.00 you receive in Social Security benefits, $4,836.00 you receive from a taxable pension benefit, and $8,750.00 your spouse receives in employment income. You testified that these amounts were correct.
- 4) According to your NYSOH account and testimony, you and your spouse will not be taking any deductions on your joint 2018 tax return.
- 5) You testified that you and your spouse have bills including rent, cable, and car payment that you think should be deducted from your household income.

Conflicting evidence, if any, was considered and found to be less credible than the evidence noted above.

Applicable Law and Regulations

Essential Plan

NYSOH must generally determine an applicant eligible for the Essential Plan, a basic health plan, if the person is (1) a resident of New York State, (2) expects to have a household income between 138% and 200% of the applicable FPL or, in the case of an individual who is a lawfully present non-citizen who is ineligible for Medicaid or Child Health Plus as a result of their immigration status, has a household income that is between 0% and 200% of the FPL, (3) is not otherwise eligible for minimum essential coverage except through the individual market, (4) is 64 years old or younger, (5) is a citizen or a lawfully present non-citizen, and (6) is not incarcerated (see 42 CFR § 600.305, 42 CFR § 435.603(d)(4), 45 CFR § 155.305(e), NY Social Services Law § 369-gg(3), 42 USC § 18051).

In an analysis of Essential Plan eligibility, the determination is based on the FPL in effect on the first day of the benefit year for which coverage is requested (45 CFR § 155.300(a)). On the date of your spouse's application that was the 2017 FPL, which is $16,240.00 for a two-person household (82 Fed. Reg. 8831).

A person who has a household income that is at or below 150% of the FPL has a $0.00 premium contribution (New York's Basic Health Plan Blueprint, p. 21, as approved January 2016; see <https://www.medicaid.gov/basic-health-program/downloads/ny-blueprint.pdf>).

If you need this information in a language other than English or you need assistance reading this notice, we can help you. Call 1-855-355-5777 (TTY - English: 1-800-662-1220) (TTY - Spanish: 1-877-662-4886).

A person who has a household income greater than 150% of the FPL or below 200% of the FPL has a $20.00 per month premium contribution (New York's Basic Health Plan Blueprint, as approved January 2016).

The Essential Plan is considered minimum essential coverage; therefore, a person who is eligible for the Essential Plan is not eligible for any premium tax credit because they are eligible for minimum essential coverage through the individual market (see 26 CFR § 1.36B-2(c)(1), 26 USC § 5000A(f)(1)(C)).

Modified Adjusted Gross Income

NYSOH bases its eligibility determinations on modified adjusted gross income as defined in the federal tax code (45 CFR § 155.300(a)). The term "modified adjusted gross income" means adjusted gross income increased by (1) any income that was excluded under 26 USC § 911 for United States citizens or residents living abroad, (2) tax-exempt interest received or accrued, and (3) Social Security benefits that were excluded from gross income under 26 USC § 86 (see 26 USC § 36B(d)(2)(B), 26 CFR § 1.36B-1(e)(2)).

"Adjusted gross income" means, in the case of an individual taxpayer, gross federal taxable income minus certain specific deductions, such as expenses reimbursed by an employer, losses from sale or exchange of property, losses from premature withdrawal of funds from time savings accounts, deductions attributable to royalties, and certain retirement savings (26 USC § 62(a)). Living expenses, such as rent and utilities are not an allowable deduction in computing adjusted gross income (id.).

Legal Analysis

The issue under review is whether NYSOH properly determined that your spouse was eligible for the Essential Plan 1.

The application that was submitted on February 21, 2018, listed an annual household income of $28,502.00 and the eligibility determination relied upon that information. During the hearing, you testified that the amount you provided in your spouse's application was correct. However, you testified that you and your spouse have bills including rent, cable, and car payment that you think should be deducted from your household income.

Since the Internal Revenue Service rules do not allow living expenses to be deducted from the calculation of your household's adjusted gross income, expenses such as rent, cable, and car payments cannot be deducted when the NYSOH computes your household's modified adjusted gross income for APTC purposes. Therefore, NYSOH correctly determined your household's income to be $28,502.00.

According to your NYSOH account and testimony, you and your spouse expect to file your tax return for 2018 with a tax filing status of married filing jointly. You and your spouse will claim no dependents on that tax return. Therefore, for purposes of this analysis, your spouse is in a two-person household.

The Essential Plan is generally provided through NYSOH to individuals who meet the non-financial requirements and have a household modified adjusted gross income that is between 138% and 200% of the FPL for the applicable family size. Additionally, individuals whose modified adjusted gross income is between 150% and 200% of the FPL will have a $20.00 per month premium contribution and will have to pay co-pays for certain services.

On the date of your spouse's application, the relevant FPL was $16,240.00 for a two-person household. Since an annual household income of $28,502.00 is 175.5% of the 2017 FPL, NYSOH correctly found your spouse to be eligible for the Essential Plan 1 with a $20.00 monthly premium and co-pays, based on the information in your spouse's application.

Since the February 22, 2018, eligibility determination notice properly stated that, based on the information you and your spouse provided, your spouse was eligible for the Essential Plan 1 with a premium of $20.00 per month, it is correct and is AFFIRMED.
